

School of Public Policy

NICOLE McMAHON

Project Manager
Canada's Productivity
Initiative

Nicole McMahon is the Project Manager for Canada's Productivity Initiative at The School of Public Policy. Previously, she was a postdoctoral scholar with the Canadian Municipal Barometer at the University of Calgary.

She received her PhD in Political Science from Western University. Her research interests include Canadian and comparative public policy and LGBTQ+ politics.